Aloha Pacific Federal Credit Union Offers Members Discounts on Aloha Gas

HONOLULU—Aloha Pacific Federal Credit Union (Aloha Pacific) launched its Affinity Card Program today, which offers a five-cent per gallon discount to members at 80 Aloha Petroleum locations on Oahu and the Big Island.

To receive the discount, members must apply for an Aloha Petroleum gas card. Once approved, a co-branded card and a personal identification number (PIN) will be sent to them. By using the card at the pump and entering the PIN, members will automatically receive five cents per gallon off the listed price.

"As gas prices continue to increase everywhere, the Affinity Card Program is our way to reward our members for being supportive for over 70 years," said president/CEO Wallace Watanabe. "It is also a wonderful opportunity to work with Aloha Petroleum, one of our newest SEGs (select employee group)."

Aloha Petroleum also offers an added group bonus discount. If the entire Aloha Pacific membership purchases 20,001 gallons or more per month, an additional discount of one cent per gallon savings is added for the entire group. If 40,001 gallons or more is purchased per month, everyone's discount increases to an additional two cents per gallon.

The Affinity Card has no annual or issuance fee for Aloha Pacific FCU members and can be used at any Aloha Petroleum's Island Mini-Mart stores for snacks and other sundries. For an application form and more information, visit www.kalanet.com.
